KANSAS LEGISLATURE .- By an extra from the office of the Herald, published at Leavenworth, July 10, we learn that the officers of the Legislature (which we mentioned a few days days ago had been organized) were equally distributed on both sides of Kansas river. The Governor's message was to have been delivered n Tuesday (10th) at noon. "Thus far," says the Herald's extra, "everything has passed off smoothly and quietly, without any disturbance or difficulty. Those gentlemen who anticipated a row have been disappointed. They have found the pro-slavery party to be composed of men actuated and govered by principle and justice."

The Herald of the 7th says that when Kansas applies for admittance into the Union, she will inevitably do so with a constitution providing for slavery. The Legislature will probably at once pass some enactments to protect slave property.

CRIMINAL COURT .- The trial of Johnson for killing Lawrence is progressing in this court. The testimony was gone through with on Saturday morning, and in the evening Mr. E. P. Pope opened the argument on the part of the accused. He was followed by Capt. Gibson for the prosecution, and Col. Caldwell then spoke for accused. Capt. Rousseau is to speak next for the prosecution and after him Mr. Ripley for the defense. Mr. Craig will then conclude the argument for the Commonwealth.

The jury have been in charge of the sheriff since they were empanelled.

The grand jury returned true bills against John Welsh, George Anderson, and John Ad-

Mr. David Harries, of Cinciunati, presented to Captain Elijah Wood, the humane whole-souled, and gallant commander of the steamer D. A. Given, a magnificent silver gob-et, in token of approbation of his kindness to Mr. Harries and other passengers on the illfated steamer Lexington. The goblet is beatifully chased and bears the following inscription:

CAPTAIN ELIJAH WOOD, FROM

DAVID HARRIES, As a small token of his deep appreciation of Capt. Wood's noble and disinterested efforts in the cause of suffering humanity, upon the occasion of the explosion of the steamer Lexington. July 11th, 1855.

The two locomotives for the Nashville Railroad Company, which were received some days ago, are being removed to the depot. They were taken on Saturday as far as Market street, on Sixth. Bell Tavern .- This old established house has been kept by the original owner since January last. It is now kept equal to any house in the West. It has been the stopping place for visitors to the Mammoth Cave for twenty years. ts present proprietor, Geo. M. Procter, spares no pains or expense to make his guests comfortable and those who stop with him will not regret it. It is the best and shortest route to the Cave by several miles from this stand.

The river continues to fall slowly. The late rise at Pittsburg has not yet got here. Last evening there were 5 feet 5 inches water in the canal. Yesterdeay was one of the hottest if not the hottest day of the season. The thermometer ranged at about 95 in the shade.

The Cumberland was rising on Friday evening with 6 feet water on the shoals.

CHOICE LIQUORS.-We acknowledge the receipt of specimens of Messrs. Ward & Cary's brandies and wines advertised in our paper today. The only possible objection to them is that the exceeding deliciousness of their flavor might tempt the man who sips to drink too deep.

A young man named Patrick Ryan got into an altercation with an Irishman on the wharf on Saturday evening, during which the latter received a dangerous stab in the side inflicted by the former with a knife. Ryan is in jail. The wounded man was sent to the hospital.

POTATOES AND ONIONS .- Mr. Murray, a large shipper of potatoes and onions, informs us that he has purchased 1000 bbls. of Neshanock potatoes, to be delivered four weeks hence, at $1 45 per bbl. He is buying onions at $1 50@

We are indebted to Henry Nantz for a very beautiful floral design and to Mr. George Heinsohn for tomatoes and potatoes, very large and fine, and for Red Astracan and Moscow

[For the Louisville Bulletin.] RAIN-DROPS. BY "MARY NEAL."

Thou fall'st upon the earth, oh gentle rain! Like drops of sympathy upon a brow Scorched by the fever-heat and racked with pain,

Earth's soothing angel thou As gentle woman at the bed of death, Thou pour'st thy treasures on the frozen ground;
And the warm influence of thy genial breath
Refreshes all around.

I sit beside a brook whose turbid wave, Stirred by the heavy shower, rolls swiftly on, While countless cloud-pearls find an earthly grave Beneath it, and are gone.

And, as I gaze upon the pure, bright things That settle in the earth-stained wave below, And, as each drop sends forth its tiny rings That widen as they go—

I think upon the heaven-sent pearls that fall Down on the bosom of this sin-stained worl Breathing their gentle influence over all,

Heaven's thoughts in earth impearled And as those rings that widen as they go Link hand in hand and miugle into one, So, surely, holy spirits sent below Live when the casket's gone.

On man! as you bright drops upon the stream, They float to catch on earth one sunny beam, They rise, are seen, are gone!

If this, indeed, were all of life, oh God! To live—to love—to die—oh, sooner far Had I remained a thing of earth, a clod, Shone on by some lone star!

But see! 'tis not the pearl-drop hubbling there 'Twas but the earthy waters which it threw Around its form, which was too heavenly fair To expose to human view.

'Twas but the earthy bubble that did burst,
The pearl-drop still retains its heavenly gleam
Gon's gems are not accurst! Oh, human soul! as pearls beneath the brine,

The beauteous drop still dwells beneath the stream:

Keep pure—untainted by the human birth, Stay'neath the wave, but let thy circles twine 'Round the lost ones of earth! COYDON, Ind., 1855.

The Career of a Villain-A Mother's Appeal The mayor of this city this morning received a latter, dated Louisville, Ky., July 5, from Margaret C. Hunter, who states that she is a widow, without means; that two years ago she had a young daughter named Eliza Ellen, an only child, who was induced to marry a young man at Louisville, who went under the name of George Wentworth, and who, after his mar-riage, took his wife to Philadelphia, where he started a paper, but afterward left for Boston, taking with him his wife—where, after starting a paper called the Ladies' Enterprise, he col-lected a considerable amount and went off with another woman, leaving his wife behind. The mother writes in a most affecting style at the thought of her young and innocent daughter, penniless and alone in a strange city, her fears being heightened by a statement made to her that Wentworth had a wife and children previous to his marriage at Louisville.

The letter was at once handed to a police officer, who made inquiries, going to show that the man left about three months since. His wife, who appeared to be much depressed in spirits, left the city, as is supposed, two months since, and her present place of abode cannot be dis-

PAINFUL RUMOR .- The Atlanta (Ga.) Examiner, of the 10th, says:

We are informed, by a gentleman from Mari-tta, there is little doubt that the two Georgians reported to be lost on the ill-fated Lexington who got on at Smithland, were Messrs. C. C. and R. Bostwick, of the former place, they having taken that route North, and being in the vi-Messrs. Bostwick were among the most energetic and influential citizens of Marietta and the interest felt in their fate is painful and exciting.

> RESOLUTIONS OF THE OHIO CONVENTION. The Convention passed resolutions substan tially as follows:

1st. That the people, who constitute the su-preme power in the United States, should guard with jealous care the rights of the several States as independent governmen s. No encroach-ments upon their legislative or judicial prerogatives should be permitted from any quarter.

2d. Resolved, That the people of the State of Ohio, mindful of the blessings conferred upon them by the Ordinance of Freedom, whose anniversary our Convention this day commemo-rates, have established for their political guidance the following cardinal rules: First, we will resent the spread of slavery, under whatever shape or color it may be attempted—to this end we will labor assiduously to render inoperative and void that portion of the Kansas and Nebraska bill which freedom in the territory withdrawn from the in-fluence of slavery by the Missouri compromise of 1820; and we will oppose, by every lawful and constitutional means, the existence of slavery in any national territories, and the further increase of slave territory and of slave States in this Republican Confederation this Republican Confederation.

3d. Resolved, That the recent acts of vio lence and civil war in Kansas, incited by the late Vice President of the United States, and tacitly encouraged by executive command, de-serve the emphatic condemnation of every cit-

4. Resolved, That a proper retrenchment in all expenditures, a thoroughly economical administration of our State Government, a just and equal basis of taxation, and single districts for election of members of the Legislature, are reforms called for by a wise State policy and justly demanded by the people.

5. Resolved, That a State Central Committee consisting of five be appointed by the convention, and said committee, in addition to its usual duties, be authorized to correspond with committees of other States for the purpose of agreeing upon a time and place for holding a national convention of the Republican party for nomination of President and Vice President.

The convention nominated the Hon. Salmon P. Chase, of Cincinnati, for Governor; Thomas H. Ford, of Richland, for Lieut. Governor; Jacob Brinkerhoff for Chief Judge of the Supreme Court; C. C. Converse for Judge of the Supreme Court; F. M. Wright for State Auditor; W. H. Gibson Treasurer; J. H. Baker for Secretary of State; F. B. Resolved, That we cordially re-affirm all the principles set forth in the preamble and resolu-tions adopted by the Republican or People's convention held in this city one year ago this day, and, as appropriate to this occasion, we re-adopt the following part thereof:

Whereas, we the freemen of Indiana, without espect to party, and actuated by a common devotion to our republic, and a common reverence for its founders, have assembled ourselves to gether in commemoration of the passage of the ordinance of July 13, 1787, consecrating the N. W. Territory to freedom, and, whereas the unanimous adoption of said ordinance by the Representatives of all the States in the Union at that date clearly evinces that opposition to the extension of slavery, to the extent of Con-stitutional power, was the fixed policy of our fathers; and whereas we regard the recent repeal of the 8th section of the "Missouri Compromise" as a gross and wanton violation of the faith of the Union, plight d to a solemn compact restricting the extension of slavery-Therefore, Resolved, That we are uncompromisingly op-posed to the extension of slavery; and, further, that we utterly repudiate the platform of principles adopted by the self-styled Democratic Convention, on the 24th day of May last, endorsing and approving the Kansas-Nebraska

Resolved. That we will waive all former party predilections, and, in concert, by all lawful ans, seek to replace every branch of the Federal Government in the hands of men who will assert the rights of freedom, restore the Missouri compromise, and refuse, under all circumstances, to tolerate the extension of slave-

2. Resolved, That our revolutionory ancestors regarded freedom as National, and slavery sectional—that we will steadfastly adhere policy, and firmly resist every attempt to reverse

3. Resolved, That an Administration that lacks the courage, ability, and disposition to protect the citizens of one State or Territory, in the free exercise of the elective franchise, against the assaults of armed mobs from other States or Territories, is undeserving of the confidence of a free people, and ought not to be continued in power longer than a constitutional op-portunity is offered to exchange it for one that will be untrammelled by the slave power, and that will have moral courage and independence enough to raise itself above all party prejudices one that will not, in its zeal to support "compromise measures," lose sight of Freedom, Justice, and the Constitution, but will administer the government fearlessly, wisely, and for the good of the whole people.

4. Resolved, That intemperance is a great and intolerable evil, and imperiously demands the efforts of all good men for its total suppression, and to this end we solemnly pledge ourselves to each other, and all the people of this State nev-er to abate such efforts until our success shall be complete. That the results of the short trial made of the present prohibitory liquor law of this State have been even more beneficial than was anticipated by its friends; we therefore ask for the law a full and fair trial, and pledge our-selves that if experience shall demonstrate that the law is unnecessarily rigorous in any respects or defective in any provisions necessary to se-cure its benevolent objects, we will cheerfully assist in procuring all needful and proper

5. Resolved, That both experience and the unmistakable manifestations of just public senti-ment demand a change of the Constitution and aws of this State, so as to limit the elective franchise to such persons only as are actual cit-izens of the United States, either by birth or by a full and final conformity with the laws on the subject of naturalization.

On the 9th, besides small operations in surgery, 300 amputations were performed in only three of the operating rooms. Sunday Law in London-Administrative Re form .- A London correspondent of the Philadelphia Bulletin writes the following:

Next to the war, the most exciting subject in ondon is the Sunday law, which has strengthend the array of the popular forces agai st the privileged classes. The law, which forbids trading and closes the shops, beer-houses, &c., except during certain hours of Sunday, is an excellent one in principle; but while it operates seriously against the lower classes, it interferes not at all with the Sunday occupations and amusements of the aristogratic and wealthy. amusements of the aristocratic and wealthy. So, on Sunday afternoon last, an immense crow G. Conover for Board of Public Works. A of people assembled in Hyde Park about the good deal of enthusiasm was manifested, and it hours when the nobility turn out to drive. They lined both sides of the great drive on the right of the Serpentine, and, as their carriages arbusiness out of doors on Sunday!" along with derisive cries of "Does your mother know you're out?" "Have you got the key?" and other good-humored absurdities.

At length they became so violent that carriages were actually stopped, and noble ladies in sumptuous dresses were compelled to alight, send home their equipages, and walk quietly back to their residences like common people. The crowd at one time is said to have reached 15,000 or 20,000. About 61 o'clock, when I not knowing of the commotion, walked down toward Hyde Park to see the stylish turn-outs, I found a crowd of several hundred policemen at Hyde Park corner, one of whom told me the meaning of the gathering. They were stationed there as a corps of reserve.

I hastened up to the Park and found still a crowd of many thousands, but the carriage way was absolutely vacant. Not a carriage was near it, but occasionally an adventurous horse-man (but not a fashionable) dashed through the gauntlet, and was hailed with all sorts of humored shouts. The police on the spot were numerous, but as there was then no breach of the peace there were no arrests. But the "nobility and gentry" had been taught a severe lesson, and it was demonstrated that in England, in this age, there can be no law enacted controlling social customs, which is not made equally applicable to rich as well as poor. applicable to rich as well as poor.

If the petty shops are to be closed, and if working people are to be deprived of their Sunday recreation, the great club-houses of Pall Mall must also be closed, and the nobility must cease their Sunday driving and their grand Sunday dinners. The titled gentlemen who have been urging these restrictive against the lower classes have been much alarmed by the Hyde Park demonstration.

Government has disavowed Lord Robert Gross venor's plans, and it seems likely that Sunday will soon be a day of as much license as ever, simply because noble lords and members of Parliament have not the self-denial to bring themselves within the operation of a law which is offensive to the people at large. The firm stand taken by the people is but one of the ma-ny signs of a great social revolution now going on, which alarms the privileged classes, since it threatens to break down the barriers of rank and make England more truly republican than it has ever been.

Administrative reform is a phrase heard now in every one's mouth, and the weekly meetings at Drury Lane Theater are beginning to excite much attention. On Wednesday evening, Chas. Dickens made his first political speech there, and it was a spicy, slashing bit of satire that is keenly felt by those in power.

The Government organs try to throw ridicule upon it, and condemn Dickens for going out of his proper sphere to meddle with topics belonging to another class of people, apparently for-getting that all the evil complained of is attributed to the custom of confining politics and office to one privileged class.

Layard, the Nineveh explorer, is the leader of the reform movement; but Dickens, as a great popular author, is regarded as an invaluable acquisition to the party, and it is gratifying to see that a man of his influence, who has been accused of toadyism to the nobility and aristocrate the state of th cy, has the manliness to come out boldly on the popular side of the question, which is now re-garded as the vital one to England.

CHOLERA IN MISSISSIPPI. - The Marion Miss.) Republican, of the 25th ult., says:

We understand that the cholera has broken out among the railroad hands near Sageville; several deaths have taken place, and serious apprehensions are entertained that the devastating disease will check for a time the progress of the railroad. There exists, it is said, some 30 or 40 cases, of which seven or eight have terminated fatally. The hands were principally negroes, and the probability is that the owners will withdraw them if the violence of the disease does not moderate.

without producing any evidence for defense.

The court ordered the discharge of all the parties except Capt. McKay, Capt. Porshner, Dr. Hamilton, and Turnbull. All those discharged were privates. The officers are retained in custody. The decision of the court in their cases, as well as that of the British Consul, will be given this morning at 11 o'clock.

RAILROAD RECEIPTS.

COL. H. MARSHALL

Will address the citizens this evening at the Lower Market-House, at early candle-light.

How does the town of Portland vote for Senator and members of the House of Representatives in the Legislature at the next August election?

The new constitution of Kentucky, article 2, section 6, provides: "In the year 1850, and again in the year 1857, and every eighth year thereafter, an enumeration of all the qualified voters in the State shall be made, and to secure uniformity and equality of representation, the State is hereby laid off into ten districts." The seventh district is composed of the counties of Jefferson, Oldham, Trimble, Carroll, Henry, and Shelby. The constitution was adopted 11th June, 1850.

The first Legislature after its adoption assembled in 1850, and passed an act to apportion representation, giving to Jefferson county, including the city, two Senators and six Representatives. The First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth wards of the city had one Senator, and the Seventh and Eighth wards and the county of Jefferson one Senator. Of the Representatives, four were assigned to the city and two to the county.

At the date of the passage of this act Portland was not within the limits of the city of Louisville, and could not vote with the city for Representative. On the 9th of January 1852, an act of Assembly was passed and approved, "auhorizing the trustees of the town of Portland to open a poll to ascertain the sense of the qualified voters in regard to the annexation of the town of Portland to the city of Louisville." The vote was taken under this authority, and resulted in favor of annexation, and Portland was by ordinance annexed to Louisville, and the city limits were so extended as to made it a part of the coporate.

It will be perceived by the foregoing synopsis of the acts, that at the time the apportionment law of 1850-51 passed, Portland was not a part of the city, and was outside of the limits to which four Representatives were assigned by the last recited act.

There can be no change of the apportionment law before the Legislative session of 1857, at which time another apportionment act must be passed, and until that time, Portland, according to the laws now in force, must vote with the county for Representatives.

It follows as a matter of law that the Portland voters at the ensuing August election (1855) vote with the county and for the county candidates, and their poll will be counted with the county, and not with the city poll.

The Hon. Millard Fillmore was entertained on the 25th of last month at a splendid banquet given by George Peabody, Esq., the eminent American banker, at the Star and Garter, Richmond, near London. Most of our distinguished countrymen who happened to be in the metropolis at the time, and several of the leading English politicans, were present. On the Wednesday following Mr. Fillmore left London for Wales. After that he was to proceed on a visit to the University of Cambridge, and was expected to return to London in time for the celebration of the Fourth of July.

SUICIDE IN CALIFORNIA .- Mr. Wm. Mozee, formerly of Kentucky, committed suicide by shooting himself in Los Angeles, California, some time during June. Mr. M. was a carpenter by trade, but at the time of his death he was keeping a billiard saloon and drinking house.

FROM HAVANA.—The Diario de la Marina street, states, that, during the half year ending June 30th, 1855, the export of sugar from the port of Havana amounted to 640,988 cases. In the corresponding period of the four preceding years, the export was as follows:

Barnum is abroad again with a characteristic enterprise at once novel and attractive. It appears that an eminent publishing-house in Paris is engaged in issuing a series of the most distinguished female beauties in the world, which, when completed, is to include ten of the most beautiful ladies in the United States and the Canadas. In order to obtain a fair supply of material, Mr. Barnum proposes to give an aggregate of $5,000 in premiums for the finest por-traits—that is, the hundred best leadings that is, the hundred best looking faces, as decided by the popular vote of persons ex-amining the pictures. He invites every man amining the pictures. He invites every man who has a fair friend of sixteen or upward, married or single, to send her daguerreotype or married or single, to send her daguerrectype or photograph on a half-plate, with the name or address in a separate sealed envelope. The likenesses will be numbered and hung in the Museum for public scrutiny. Each visitor is requested to check, on a slip to be furnished, such numbers as he or she thinks best-looking up to the limit of one hundred. This checked list will be denomined in a cort of hallst her. list will be deposited in a sort of ballot-box, and on the 15th of January next this box will be

EXTRAORDINARY SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY .-A discovery has been made in Paris, by which any metallic poison, such as lead, mercury, or arsenic, may be extracted from the system by the potent agency of electricity. The modus operandi is as follows:

A metallic bath is insulated on glass legs and partially filled with acidulated water, to convey more readily the electrical currents. The vey more readily the electrical currents. The patient lies upon a seat in the tub, insulated entirely from the bath. When gold, silver, or mercury is in the system, nitre of hydrocholoric acids are employed. When lead is suspected, the acid used is sulphuric. This done, the negative pole of the battery is put in connection with the bath, while the positive pole is in the hands of the patient. Now the work of purification commences. The electricity precipitates cation commences. The electricity precipitates itself, hunts, digs, searches, and discovers every particle of metallic substance concealed in the most profound tissues, bones, nerves, and joints of the patient, resolves them into their primitive forms, and, extracting them from the human organism, deposits them upon the side of the bath, where they can be seen with the naked eye.

To the Editors of the Louisville Bulletin:

CHICAGO, Michigan Avenue, June, '55. GENTLEMEN: From the crowded, noisy "Tremont," we have come to a quiet, home-like, sweet place on the fashionable avenue for residences; so near the lake, I can fancy I hear the murmurings of the rough waves at times.

"Our house" has some charming inmates. First of all, our model hostess is a queenly looking woman, graceful in manner; kind-hearted and even watchful of the comfort of those around her. The daughter, blessed with the sweetest and dearest of all names, "Mary," is sunny young creature, with rosy cheeks and dewy lips, and eyes whose glances are bright enough to go straight to many a masculine heart. One other lady, a charming, attractive woman, and the mother of the sweetest "little Harry" that ever was seen-and your humble -make up the female part of our household. Oh, no, I must not forget the laughing, violet-eyed baby, who is as happy and gleeful on the lake shore as in a Kentucky home. Blissful unconsciousness. that I envy now and

Our gentlemen-ma foi! how handsome they are! There is one, a Kentuckian, with face and figure that must captivate many a Chicago beauty. I defy any vulnerable, "famcy-free" Mademoiselle to regist the manliness, the vivacity, and, more than all, the true kindliness decity, and, more than all, the true kindliness depicted on the countenance and features of our wodower-friend, Mr. C——d. Our neighbor at table, Mr. W., is a fascinating man with a genial smile, that goes right to the heart and wins him friends. He hails from Kentucky, where are his household gods. A gay, franklooking M. D., who is the favorite of everybody, and two others, form our Kentucky delegation—and a creditable one, I assure you, it is.

My view wise (at table) has the most striking. My vis-a vis (at table) has the most strikingly handsome face I ever saw. Hs is a foreigner, I think. The most glorious black eyes, chiselled features, and noble contour—wha

Adonis, marriageable females must think him. This "miraculous lake town" still pursues its unprecedented course. I have seen, in my short sojourn, old buildings moved and massive foundations laid; have watched daily the wonderful progress of immense structures. I have seen planks torn up and beautifully regular flag-stone sidewalks completed in a rew days. And as I trace these marvellous improvements from one sun-rise to another, and, of the faces that I meet in my daily walks, many become familiar, and localities well known, I am gradually losing interest in the novelty of the city, but am beginning to feel that my new home is in pleasant place and that I love the lake shore. Two imposing pavilions are erected in sight of my window, and rival "equestrian operas" are performed for the benefit of admiring crowds. The music is really delightful and quite exhilarating, as every note comes in at my open window with that magical indistinctness and from just the "distance" that "lend enchantment." ly colored designs on the white canvas of the Ethiopean band, that discourses such comic music within, have almost tempted me to follow the eager little feet that rush in and take a peep; but on reflection I am convinced the glimase from my window are more satisfactory-so stay at home.

-what an

A shopping excursion by gas-light has more beauty and poetry in it than one can imagine. How I have enjoyed it! Myriads of brilliant lights flashing on the side-walks of "Lake revealing the interesting faces of darlings, soft floating dresses, fairy-like bonnets, tiny slippers, and delicious bon-bons temptingly displayed, are doubly beautiful at night.

Parodi, assisted by M and M'de Strakosch has been delighting the Chicago dilletanti and fashionable world. I will not dwell on the brilliant "arias" of M'lle — or the sparkling "Contraige" of M "fantasias" of M. Strakosch. But I must say a word of one ballad, given in M'de Patti Strakosch's rich contralto—dear, blessed, ever-precious "Home, Sweet Home." Oh! what bright faces; of past joys; of sorrows softened by time; wistful thoughts of green, sunny spots; of flowers and trees that I love. Ohl "there is no place like home."

Now and then a familiar face looks in upon us, and a well-known voice gives us items of the home we have left. Thanks to thee, oh! gallant Colonel, for "the light of thy countenan and the music of thy voice, so kindly given for one evening to Kentucky friends. Gentle be the sway of thy prospective Queen.

SECOND DISTRICT COURT.—New Claimants to the McDonogh Estate.—Sarah Greenwood, of Virginia, and others, have instituted suit in the Second District Court, against the cities of New Orleans and Baltimore and others, as universal legatees of the McDonogh bequest, in which they aver that, as the heirs of Shepherd Brown, who was McDonogh's partner in business from 1802 to 1818, when he died, they are

Mr. O'Sullivan, the United States Minister at Lisbon, who is said to be one of the best chess players in America, played, during his stay in Paris, twenty-seven games without odds, with M. [Correspondence of the New York Herald.] WASHINGTON, July 11.

The Cabinet of the 9th inst. met in full, and had before them the important questions of our Dominican and Cuban relations, particulars of which were lately reported in the Herald. The letters of your correspondent were read, and Mr. Marcy was appealed to as to their correctness. Anticipating this demand, he plead as necessary for the suppression of certain papers bearing upon the above cases, from the Cabinet, that investigation would prove them ground-

His diplomacy fell heavily upon the keen sensibilities of both Mr. Davis and Mr. Dobbin, and I am now assured that the adjournment of this Cabinet meeting will be productive of most grave results. Dobbin will leave under pretext of ill health, but will not again resume his duties as Secretary of the Navy. Between the President and Secretary Davis there has not ex-isted the usual confidence. Davis has proved his treachery in the case of Soule, and his indirect opposition to the acquirement of Cuba, when it could have been obtained by purchase three months after Mr. Soule's arrival at Mad-

It is now discovered that most important dispatches, bearing upon our foreign interests, have been suppressed by Marcy, under the advice of the President, and that the cabinet—the major-ity of it—have been misled and ill-informed upon various subjects that they have been called to act upon.

A further investigation into the two hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the government money, invested under cognizance of officials, in the Kansas land speculation, leads to the fol-lowing particulars. I have ascertained that a United States Senator is one of the principal advisers in the affair, and that Reader, with the entire party, now likely to meet with proper treatment in their speculations, at the hands of the new Kansas Legislature, have been under the direction of this well-known individual. The head of a certain bureau in this city is making investigations into this matter; and, contrary to my late advices, the most important of these peculating facts may be made public before the meeting of Congress.

PARTICULARS OF THE BURNING OF THE MAG. BRANNER.—On Sunday morning, seven miles below Baton Rouge, about eight o'clock, the steamer Magnolia Branner, with a cargo of 1076 bales cotton and sundries, took fire and burned to the water's edge. Boat and cargo, total loss, the crew barely escaping with their lives. The clerk got the books and papers to-gether, and learning that his father was asleep in his room, he left all and rushed to his rescue. All the money on board was lost. The pilot, Mr. Juoll Martin, who was at the wheel. deserves credit for his coolness; he staid at his post and run her to the shore. Also the engineer, Mr. Oliver Holmes, and his assistant, re-mained at their engines till she struck the shore, by which time the entire cabin was one mass of flames. The boat was new and cost $16,000; was built at Louisville. She was uninsured.

Besides the loss of the boat, the owner, Mr. H. Bryant, lost two negro boys. There were five lives lost, two white hands and three color-ed men. The Mary Bess, passing down, kindly offered any assistance and free passage to all that wished to come to the city. Some accept-ed the offer, others intended to come on the C. D., Jr., then also in sight, but her officers did no deem it prudent to land. Afterwards, the J. M. Relf took all on board, and the captain and crew of the Mag. Branner speak in the highest terms of the treatment they received from Capt.
Joffrion and Mr. White, clerk of the Relf, showing their hearts were in the right place. N. O. Delta, July 9.

A New Bite. - Yesterday afternoon, as a man named Young was walking in the neighborhood of Eighth and Spruce, he was accosted by a young man, quite genteelly distressed, who appeared to be in great agony. The young man inquired of Mr. Young where the nearest dentist could be found, and said he was suffering greatly from the tooth-ache. Mr. Young kind-ly gave the required directions. "Just put your finger in my mouth and feel the tooth that tor-tures me," said the sufferer," apparently wri-thing in agony. Mr. Young complied, and in-serted one of his digits. The young man then started away to seek the dentist. Meanwhile Mr. Young, having occasion to put his hand in his pocket, discovered that his porte-monnaie, containing $4, was gone. He immediately gave information to officer Hunter, who pursued and arrested the sufferer. The money was returned to the owner, and the inventor of the newest dodge was committed to the gloomy recesses of Moyamensing to reflect upon the ingratitude of the world as displayed toward inventive genius. Phil. N. Amer.

The prohibitory liquor law appears to be the most exciting topic of the day, particularly in the interior of the State. Hereabouts we have numerous arrests for drunkenness, but few com plaints against dealers. The public mind seems to have settled upon the conclusion that the whole affair is an unadulterated humbug; and the Carson Leaguers have such a wholesome dread of Judge Lynch, that they prefer to post-pone their martyrdom indefinitely. In the rural districts and in some portions of Long Island, the liquor traffic has been generally abandoned, or the law is enforced, but in all the large cities it is a dead letter. Wherever the liquor interest is strong enough to resist the en-forcement of the law, the authorities seem un-willing to meddle with the dealers. The question as to the intoxicating properties of lager beer is attracting much attention. The recent seizure of lager at Poughkeepsie is the more singular, as Judge Strong, of that district, had decided beer not to be an intoxicating drink.

Famine in Madawaska .- A letter from Rev M. R. Kefp, a home missionary stationed in Madawaska, to the Portland Mirror, under date of June 24th, states that the people in that por-tion of Maine are, and have been for months, in state of starvation. He states that probably 500 families, with an average of eight children each, have gone without bread from one to eight weeks at a time this spring. They keep alive now on greens, a few fish and frogs, and it is said they have eaten snakes. One or two cases of starvation are said to have occurred before the spring opened. Fish and game of all kinds are scarce around the older settlements, and many of the men are too much famished disheartened to take to the woods and lakes. The greatest relief looked for was the raspberry harvest, and about the first of August rasp-berries and blackberries were inexhaustible.

New Book by Mrs. Caroline H. Laing. THE OLD FARM HOUSE.

The OLD FARM HOUSE.

The control of the authoress of the above work speaks volumes in its favor, and in this she has produced the crowning effort of her pen. For freshness and vigor of thought and style and for originality—in the charming views of country life at the "Old Farm Hause"—in the striking illustrations of the follies of a fashionable city life—in her description of good and evil natures—in all the various subjects which she has touched with her magic pen, she cannot be excelled. The gentle heroine, Amy, is a model of patience and virtue, persecuted by the evil genius of hr. life, the villain Stanuton.

The book will be read with avidity, and none who commence it will desire to lay it aside till finished. We offer with full confidence that its perusal will be attended with pleasure and profit to all readers. Price $1.25.

Said report is as follows, to-wit:

The Special Committee, to whom was referred the resolution of this board to take into consideration the subject of licensing taverns or houses of entertainment, with or without the privilege of retailing spirituous liquors and the powers and duties of the General Council in reference to the same, state

That, in the investigation of this subject, there is but one question to be considered by the committee which his:

Is it a duty or privilege with the General Council to grant license for the retail of ardent, vinous or fermented liquors?

To solve this question it is necessary to convarious legislative enactments in relation to the subject in force now and heretofore

Legislature of the State of Kentucky has uniformly recognized the use of arden spirits as a beverage detrimental to the public weal, by the imposition of restrictions and limi-tations upon traffic in them, constituting the selling by retail a privilege sparingly and cautiously granted, and an exception to the general law.

By the general statute law of the State, the retail of ardent spirits for the purpose of being drunk on the premises has always been and still is restricted to "taverns." Special exceptions have from time to time been made in favor of certain municipal corporations, which have been authorized as means of raising revenue to license the retail of ardent spirits by persons other than

By the provisions of the Charter of the city of Louisville, passed by the Legislature of Kenlegislative enactments, which in our opinion, con

&c."

Section 6, reads as follows: "For taverns, notels, public boarding-houses entertaining transient guests, and other houses or places of public resort or entertainment, wherein no malt, spirituous, wnous or fermented liquors are sold by retail, excepting houses of ill fame, gambling nouses and cock-pits, which shall not be not less than ten dollars, nor more than two hundred dollars each shall be charged for license."

Section 7th reads as follows: "For coffee houses, taverns and other houses and establishments wherein malt, spirituous, vinous, or fermented liquors are sold by retail, not less than fifty dollars nor more than three hundred ollars each, shall be charged for license

The Revised Statutes, adopted by the Legislature of Kentucky, at session of 1851-2, and in form from July 1, 1852, under the title of taverns, page 660, article 1, sec. 2, provide as

"The county courts shall have power to grant licenses to keep a tavern in their respective counties, for one year from the date of the grant, and until the next succeeding county court," &c.

Now, it will be observed that the provisions in the Revised Statutes, are of a general nature, applicable to the State at large, and proscribing rules for the action of the county courts, in grant ing tavern license, not expressly nor by implication, interfering with the provisions of our City Charter or the rights and duties of the General Council in such matters.

We hold that the Revised Statutes did not repeal the powers granted the General Council by Charter over the subject of licensing taverns, but if they did, the power was again re-invested by the L gislature of Kentucky at its session of 1853-4. See session acts, chapter 1013, sec. 2, page 185—which is as follows:

"That wherever the municipal authorities of city or town, before the Revised Statutes went into effect, had the authority of licensing the retail of spirituous liquors to be drunk on the premises, they shall retain such power, and it shall not be deemed to be repealed by the Revised

Another provision of the Revised Statutes see page 550, article 2, sec. 3, recognises an existing right in ce.tain cities or towns to license he retail of spirituous liquor.

The Court of Appeals of Kentucky, in 14, Ben Munroe, Commonwealth vs. Kamp, 385, has determined that a license from a county court to keep a tavern, under the general law above cited, "ex vi termini" confers and embraces the privilege of retailing ardent spirits, but the provisions of the Charter of the City of Louisville, above quoted, are entirely different from those of the general statutes upon which the decision of the Court of Appeals was based and which that decision was intended to expound.

The provisions of the City Charter, sections 6 and 7, article 6, expressly recognize a distinction between taverns with and taverns without the privilege of retailing liquors, and prescribe a dif-ferent grade of taxation. Thus showing clearly that the framers of the Charter did not consider liquor an indispensable element in a tavern, or that the franchise could not exist without

But the legislative recognition of this distinct tion is not confined to the provisions of the City Charter merely. So early as the year 1834, (see Brown and Morehead's Digest, page 1,504, sec-tion 9,) the Legislature of Kentucky recognised the same distinction by providing that tavernkeepers, not in a town nor within a half a mile thereof, and who did not retail spirituous liquor, need not obtain license.

So, also, in 1851, (see Revised Statutes, page 665, section 2) the Legislature expressly declared that the privilege to sell spirituous liquor should not be implied in any license to keep a tavern, unless said right should be specified. This legis-lative definition of the word "tavern," excluding the idea that liquor is a necessary or inseparable element in the establishment, and engrafted upon our statute, has no public sanction and re cognition and still stands unrepealed. statute in which it is embraced was in force when the City Charter was framed, and, according to all legal presumption, was known to the framers of Hence it is to be inferred that, in the Charter. framing the Charter, they used the word according to the definition they had prescribed to it. This is made manifest by sections 6 and 7, article 6, City Charter.

Section 6th provides that the City Council may charge for license for taverns, hotels and public boarding houses, &c., wherein no malt, spirituous or fermented liquor may be so tail, not less than ten nor more than two hundred dollars each.

Section 7th provides that for license to taverns and hotels, wherein malt, vinous, spirituous and fermented liquors are sold, not less than fifty no more than three hundred dollars each.

Thus we have three separate and distinct legislative enactments, at different sessions of the Legislature, expressly declaring that a tavern may exist without the privilege of retailing liquor, or, in other words, that houses for the accommodation of the public may exist without selling whisky.

Can it then be said, after a review of the various enactments already cited, that the Legislature of Kentucky, when adopting our City Charter, believee that the use of ardent spirits as a beverage was an indispensable public legal neces sity, and so thinking, determined to withhold from the City Council the momentous power to deprive the people of the "water of life.

Such a supposition is not only derogatory to the intelligence of the Legislature, but unsupported by any even plausible sophistry.

We have shown that the City Charter, in sec tion 6, article 6, page 3?, expressly authorizes the Council to license taverns, hotels, public houses, &c., wherein no malt, spirituous, vinous or fermented liquours are sold by retail, and if we look to article 5, section 23, page 28 of the Charter, we find that boarding houses and livery stable keepers in the city of Louisville are given the like lien on the property of their guests in their care, or put at livery as tavern keepers have, and are made alike answerable for the safety of property confided to them.

What want, then, we ask, has the public that taverns, hotels and public boarding houses, without the privilege of selling ardent spirits, cannot what security for good eating and ledging, and for the safety of property is afforded by taverns with the privilege of selling liquor that is not amply guaranteed in similar establishments wherein spirits are not retailed? We answer, wherein spirits are not retailed?

Then we ask wherein does the accommoda tion of the public require taverns with the privi-lege of selling liquor, unless the use of ardent spirits as a beverage is regarded as a public ne-

Unless it be conceded that the citizens of Louisville and the strangers visiting her cannot exist without using ardent spirits as a beverage, then we maintain their is no necessity for a tavern licensed with the privilege of retailing tucky, and approved March 24th, 1851, in tain all the law applicable to the question, we sections 6 and 7, article 6, the General Council are constrained to adhere to the opinion hereto-is authorized to license "taverns, hotels, public boarding-houses-entertaining transient guests, board, that the decision of the Judge of the Jefferson Circuit Court rendered in the cases of M. Kean and Nancy Vacaro against the Mayor and Councilmen of the city of Louisville, is

We maintain that the general State laws regulating the granting of tavern licenses by county courts, is not applicable to the General Council of the city of Louisville;

That the City Charter of Louisville vests the General Council with the power to license taverns, hotels, public boarding houses, &c., either with or without the privilege of selling liquor, as they in their discretion may think proper;

That the General Council, being a legislative body, the Judge has no right to dictate to them how they are to legislate. Upon a failure of the Council to exercise a discretionary power conferred upon them by law, the most a Judge can (legally) do is to compel them by peremptory mandamus to act upon the subject, but he cannot compel or direct the manner of its exercise. he can, then the General Council is a mere cipher-ought to be abolished, and the Judge of the Jefferson Circuit Court permitted to make and execute the laws and ordinances for the govern ment of the city himself.

The awarding of the peremptory mandamus by the Judge against the Mayor and Council-men of the city of Louisville, commanding them to ssue tavern licenses to Kean and Vacaro, was virtually denying to the General Council any discretion in such matters.

The City Charter authorizes the Council to grant tavern license, either with or without the privilege to retail liquor, at their election and discretion. The Judge commanded them to grant them tavern licenses, and decided that tavern license carried with it the right to sell liquor.

The General Council were always willing, in the exercise of the discretion given them by the charter, to grant Kean and Vacaro tavern licenses without the right to sell liquor. There was no averment in the petition of either

Kean or Vacaro, that the taverns proposed to be licensed were necessary for the accommodation of the public; nor was there any proof to that end introduced upon the trial of the causes. These facts were assumed in the decision of the Judge. The parties (Kean and Vacaro) did not show themselves entitled to a tayern license. either under the charter or State law, not having complied with the requirements of either.

Entertaining the firm conviction that the General Council has the right to license taverns or not, either with or without the privilege to retail ardent spirits as they, in their discretion, may see proper, and finding nothing in the opinion of the Circuit Judge to awaken that conviction, but upon a careful review of the law everything to confirm and strengthen it; and in view of our duty to the citizens of Louisville, who, by a very majority, have expressed their decided opposition to the further granting of licenses for the retail of liquor in the city; and in order to prevent, as far as may be, the great amount of crime, misery, unhappiness, ruin, and desolation which the use of ardent spirits entails upon every class of society, in all their various ramifications, we recommend to this board to stand firmpursue the line of policy laid down in withholding all licenses whatever authorizing or permitting liquor to be sold by retail, and in case mandamuses are again applied for before the Judge of the Jef ferson Circuit Court, to resist them to the last extremity, and if granted supersede them. We confidently believe that the mandamus granted in the cases of Kean and Vacaro, and all others which may be granted under a like state of facts, will be reversed. But if in that we should be mistaken then we urge the General Council to take immediate steps for the passage of such a law, which in clear, forcible and unmistakeable language shall vest the General Council of this city with the power to banish forever the blighting and destroying curse of liquor from her midst.
